

Programming in C and CPP

Assignment 4

Date : 25/9/2020

1. Create a structure named student which contains information of student like name,age,gender and marks1,marks2.Use this structure in your program and display information of atleast 2 Students.
2. Create a structure of client that store information of client and display information of client .Store information of atleast 5 clients.[Use structure array]
3. Create a union same as given in Question.1 and try to display all information.
4. Create a structure of employee that store information of employee like name,id and date.Date itself is structure contains information like dd,mm,yyyy. Display information of employee .[Use nested structure]
5. Create a structure named address contains information like city,pincode,phone.Pass this structure to function and display information in function.
6. Create a structure named distance that stores inch and feet. Display sum of two distance .